

SOME PROBLEMS IN THE COMPUTERIZATION OF PSYCHOLOGICAL EXPERIMENTS OR MEASUREMENT USING CHINESE SUBJECTS

JEI-TUN WU

National Taiwan University

ABSTRACT

This paper points out some technical problems frequently occurred in designing a computer program for conducting psychological experiment or measurement. In addition to those problems common to all cases, some special problems unique to many programs including presentation of Chinese characters and designed to be executed under Chinese system are also emphasized. A programming tool library which contains many related Microsoft C callable functions useful for designing psychological experiment programs are thus proposed.